

George

Once upon a time in a scary castle, there lived a knight called Bob. Bob loved to play video games with his ghost friend called George and Bob also loved the Princess Peach, with all his heart.

One day, Bob went off playing video games. As it was a stormy day, Bob left George home to look after Princess Peach.

As Princess Peach was sleeping George heard a growl and saw a bear creeping towards Princess Peach. The bear and George had a fight. The bear was stronger than George and scrambled him but the scam went straight through him. George was determined to protect the Princess.

Later that night Bob came home and opened the door to see Princess Peach's crown and her dress covered in blood on the floor.

Bob saw George float in front of him and saw a bloody sword in his hand.

Bob thought George had killed Princess Peach, so he sucked him up with a Hoover.

Suddenly Bob heard, "Help me! Help me!"

Bob looked in the wardrobe and saw the Princess was alive and saw a dead bear next to her.

He knew George had protected the Princess. Bob was broken hearted.

He had a round picture of George painted and wore a ring with George's name printed on it.

If you go to Ghostbusters Castle, you can see George's picture and the ring with his name on still there.
